The International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement

189 National Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies worldwide

International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC), founded in 1919

International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), founded in 1863
The Fundamental Principles of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement

- Humanity
- Impartiality
- Neutrality
- Independence
- Voluntary service
- Unity
- Universality
The IFRC response

- Strategy 2020 – a ten year strategy focused on saving lives and changing minds
- Shaped by the vulnerabilities of the communities where National Societies work, adherence to the Fundamental Principles, and individual rights and freedoms
- Guides the IFRC and member National Societies in tackling the major challenges confronting humanity
- Advanced by three strategic aims (what we will do) and three enabling actions (how we will do it)

Why embrace e-learning?

E-learning implies the use of computer, tablet or mobile technologies to deliver learning materials. It confers many benefits including the following:

- Volunteers and staff can theoretically learn from anywhere on earth, as long as there is an internet connection and a suitable device.
- Volunteers and staff can learn at anytime, there is no need to wait for a session to be organized in a few months, or take leave from work. One can also study at one’s own pace, independently of other students.
- E-learning offers unprecedented possibilities of economies of scale: once a course is developed, it costs virtually nothing to distribute it to one, a hundred or one million people, thus making learning accessible to all.
- E-learning does not replace face to face learning but instead complements it; it offers the ability to deliver key generic training and learning elements enabling face to face training to evolve into more customised, deeper training opportunities.

Concluding remarks & Q&A

- IFRC is keen to develop collaborations with various International organisations i.e. UN agencies to provide more e-learning opportunities for Red Cross & Red Crescent staff and volunteers.
- So far we are in the process of finalising partnerships with UNICEF, WHO, OCHA, WFP, FAO & UNHCR.
- For more information on how to partner with IFRC, please get in touch with william.babumba@ifrc.org
- Thank you for inviting us to this meeting
